Extension Division presents

Modern Group Analysis

■ The Power of the Group: Four Stories ■

Group treatment is a cornerstone in the practice of modern psychoanalysis. When combined with individual treatment, it makes for a powerful and effective therapeutic intervention. This series of four stories is designed to invite discussion of the role group played in the development of four senior faculty members.

In this, the first of the series, Dr. Elliot Zeisel opens with a brief talk about his experience with groups and then, with the audience, demonstrates the leadership issues and psychodynamic processes that arise in conducting group analysis.

■ The event concludes with refreshments and a social gathering.
