

CMPS

Center for Modern Psychoanalytic Studies

Extension Division

Social Workers:

Is Psychoanalytic Training for You?

JOIN US FOR LUNCH and an exploration of the ways that modern psychoanalytic training can expand and deepen your clinical insight and strengthen your therapeutic and supervisory skills. We will discuss any questions you may have about psychoanalytic training to help you determine whether this may be a path you want to follow. A complimentary lunch is included with RSVP.

Raúl Plasencia, LCSW, a graduate of NYU School of Social Work and CMPS, has over 20 years experience in the fields of mental health and addiction.

Teresa Solomita, LCSW, a CMPS graduate, has been in practice for over 10 years in Manhattan and Brooklyn, specializing in working with people who are struggling in their relationships. Her interests include countertransference love, group beginnings, and single life in NYC.

Informational Lunch Seminar

Friday, April 10, 2015 · 1:30-3:00 PM

CMPS, 16 West 10th Street, New York, NY 10011

The seminar is free – A complimentary lunch is provided with RSVP
For information or to RSVP: 212.260.7050 · cmcs@cmcs.edu · www.cmcs.edu

Modern Psychoanalysis builds upon the foundation laid by Freud, expanding theory and technique to encompass the treatment of a broader range of psychopathology than originally thought possible. This includes disorders of the self, such as narcissistic and borderline disorders, which comprise a significant percentage of the patients currently seen by practitioners.

The Center for Modern Psychoanalytic Studies (CMPS) holds an absolute charter from the State of New York to offer a Certificate in Psychoanalysis and is recognized by the State of New York as a licensure-qualifying institute for those seeking licensure in psychoanalysis.