The Center for Modern Psychoanalytic Studies

One-Year Program

If you would like to enhance your therapeutic skills as a mental health practitioner or use psychoanalytic techniques to improve your work in education, business, or the arts ...

Our One Year Program May be for You
The Center for Modern Psychoanalytic Studies, a psychoanalytic training institute founded in 1971, is chartered by the NYS Board of Regents and recognized by NYS as a licensure-qualifying institute for those seeking licensure in psychoanalysis. Modern psychoanalysis rests on the theoretical framework and clinical approach of Sigmund Freud. By introducing new techniques, modern psychoanalysis allows for the treatment of a wide range of emotional disorders in a variety of settings. It aims to loosen repetitive and rigid patterns of thinking and behavior. This approach has proven valuable to psychoanalysts as well as clinicians in social work agencies, drug and alcohol treatment facilities, community mental health and senior citizen centers, and special education teachers and guidance counselors. Others who find psychoanalytic thought valuable are educators, students of literature and the arts, and those in business.

One-Year Program

THE CMPS ONE-YEAR PROGRAM is designed to enrich the work of clinical practitioners and professionals in various disciplines by introducing them to modern psychoanalytic principles, theories, and techniques. In this course of study you can expect to enhance your therapeutic skills, generate new insights about yourself and your work, and to develop more effective ways of interacting with your clientele. Classes focus on case material and emphasize the application of a psychodynamically informed approach. Both experiential process and more traditional teaching methods are used to promote learning. Students progress through the program as a group. Two consecutive evening classes are taught weekly each semester. A certificate of completion will be awarded.
