Center for Modern Psychoanalytic Studies

Online Presentation (via Zoom)

Creative Clinical Writing Workshop

In this workshop, participants will learn to write richer, more accessible, and creative clinical narratives. They will be guided into a process of writing in which the writing itself becomes a means of furthering their clinical work, revealing as well as more deeply exploring and coming to new understandings and insights about their work with patients through the very process of writing about it. Writing will be experienced not only as an expression but an ongoing creation of their clinical experience.
