Course Description:

This course considers the phenomenology of the setting, the handling of resistances, and the management of impulses in group interactions as they pertain to the modern psychoanalytic treatment of groups, families and couples.

Course Objectives:

Students will be able to:

- Describe the phenomenology of group setting;
- Understand the methods of managing and resolving resistances; and
- Understand the group therapist's role in managing impulses in group interactions from a modern analytic perspective

Requirements:

Students will be responsible for weekly class logs that reflect an understanding of key concepts and of class process. There will be a final paper – Due Class 10.

READINGS

Readings for this course will be drawn from the writings of Hyman Spotnitz, Phyllis Meadow, Louis Ormont and Leslie Rosenthal.
